SPECIFIC UNDERSTANDINGS

By signing this authorization form, you authorize the use or disclosure of your protected health information as described above. This information may be redisclosed if the recipient(s) described on this form is not required by law to protect the privacy of the information, and such information is no longer protected by federal health information privacy regulations.

If you are authorizing the release of HIV-related information, you should be aware that the recipient(s) is prohibited from redisclosing any HIV-related information without your authorization unless permitted to do so under federal or state law. You also have a right to request a list of people who may receive or use your HIV-related information without authorization. If you experience discrimination because of the release or disclosure of HIV-related information, you may contact the New York State Division of Human Rights at (212) 870-8624 or the New York City Commission of Human Rights at (212) 566-5493. These agencies are responsible for protecting your rights.

You have a right to refuse to sign this authorization. Your health care, the payment for your health care, and your health care benefits will not be affected if you do not sign this form, but we will not be permitted to use or disclose your information as described on this form without your signature.

You have a right to receive a copy of this form after you have signed it.

If you sign this authorization, you will have the right to revoke it at any time, except to the extent that the hospital has already taken action based upon your authorization. To revoke this authorization, please write to Health Information Management at the hospital.

Authorization for Release of Confidential HIV* Related Information

Confidential HIV related information is any information indicating that a person had an HIV related test, or has HIV infection, HIV related illness or AIDS, or any information which could indicate that a person has been potentially exposed to HIV.

Under New York State Law, confidential HIV related information can only be given to people you allow to have it by signing a written release, or to people who need to know your HIV status in order to provide medical care and services, including: medical care providers; persons involved with foster care or adoption; parents and guardians who consent to care of minors; jail, prison, probation and parole employees; emergency response workers and other workers in hospitals, other regulated settings or medical offices, who are exposed to blood/body fluids in the course of their employment; and organizations that review the services you receive. State law also allows your HIV information to be released under limited circumstances: by special court order; to public health officials as required by law; and to insurers as necessary to pay for care and treatment. Under State law, anyone who illegally discloses HIV related information may be punished by a fine of up to $5,000 and a jail term of up to one year. However, some re-disclosures of such information are not protected under federal law. For more information about HIV confidentiality, call the New York State Department of Health HIV Confidentiality Hotline at 1-800-962-5065.

If you sign this form (Individual Authorization Form), HIV related information can be given to the people listed on the form, and for the reason(s) listed on the form. You do not have to sign the form, and you can change your mind at any time by indicating your change in writing. Upon your request, the facility or provider asking for this release must provide you with a copy of this form as signed by you or left unsigned.

The law protects you from HIV related discrimination in housing, employment, health care and other services. For more information call the New York State Division of Human Rights Office of AIDS Discrimination Issues at 1(800) 523-2437 or (212) 480-2493 or the New York City Commission of Human Rights at (212) 30&5070. These agencies are responsible for protecting your rights.
